Pope Francis' August Prayer Intention

For Political Leaders

We pray that political leaders be at the service of their own people, working for integral human development and for the common good, especially caring for the poor and those who have lost their jobs.

"Jesus knows we are sinners; he knows we make many mistakes, but he does not give up on joining his life to ours.

He knows that we need the Eucharist, because the Eucharist is not the reward of saints, but the bread of sinners. This is why exhorts us:

"Do not be afraid! Take and eat."

Love Without Measure...

My Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

A few weeks ago, I had the privilege of attending the 10 th National Eucharistic Congress as part of a delegation from the Diocese of Cleveland. I was truly honored to attend this event with over fifty-thousand other Catholics from around the country. During the five days I was there, the attendee's we were considered pilgrims, and we were encouraged to immerse ourselves fully into the rich tapestry of liturgies, training, educational sessions, and fellowship. We were to allow the Holy Spirit to work through each of us by healing, forming, strengthening, and most importantly, filling us with a missionary zeal.

Of course, the focus of this event was to recognize the significance of the Eucharist in our faith. The Catechism tells us the "The Eucharist is the source and summit of the Christian life. The other sacraments, and indeed all ecclesiastical ministries and works of the apostolate, are bound up with the Eucharist and are oriented toward it" (CCC 1324-1327). In other words, Christ, His real presence the Eucharist, is the beginning, the end, and the purpose of all we do in our Christian life.

We simply cannot live authentic Catholic lives without the Eucharist because our lives are committed to loving Christ. In the Eucharist, Jesus gave His disciples, and all of us, His love, a love that has no limits, a love so great that it literally has the power to remove sin and grant eternal life. When we encounter Christ in the Eucharist, we are healed, revived, transformed, and brought into Communion with all of the Church and Christ Himself.

We must all always remember, the Eucharist is both a gift and a command, the most precious gift of Christ's love and a command to share His gift of love with others. As such, we are all called to be missionary disciples of Christ's gift of Salvation. The story of Jesus' sacrifice is the greatest love story ever told. "For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve and give His life as a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45). We need to share His story, proclaim the good news, not only in words, but more importantly, in how we live our lives ("always preach the Gospel, and when necessary, use words..." St. Francis). Remember, we do not attend "Church" every week, we attend Mass every week, "Church" starts when Mass ends. We are dismissed with the words "the Mass is ended, go in peace, glorifying the Lord by your lives." As we exit the Mass, we have been nourished by the Word of God, and transformed by His body and blood in the Eucharist and are sent forth to be peacemakers, to serve the poor, witness to the Gospel, defend life from conception to its natural end, join the struggle for justice and right the wrongs we see in the world. This is the Eucharist; this is the real presence of the Living Christ.

With humility,

Deacon Chris

August is a month filled with many important saints, very diverse in life, and worthy of reflection and imitation.

Today, August 4, is the feast of St. John Marie Vianney, the patron of parish priests. The significance and the beauty of this simple parish priest who spent 41 years serving the people of Ars, France, is not because he founded any religious order or left us an abundant collection of brilliant theological writings. It was his simple witness of being a faithful, zealous, and loving parish priest who helped countless souls through the healing ministry in the confessional.

August 8 is the feast of St. Dominic who was appalled at the spiritual horrors wrought by the Albigensian heresy which, among other things, taught that the physical world was evil - despite the fact that Jesus chose to live in it Himself. Dominic set out to counter this heresy with truth. His humility, fatherly kindness, patience and joyfulness under persecution impressed even his enemies.

On August 9 we honor Edith Stein (St. Teresa Benedicta of the Cross) who is a great model for today's young generation who seek the truth. A brilliant philosopher who stopped believing in God when she was 14, Edith Stein was so captivated by reading the autobiography of Teresa of Avila that she began a spiritual journey that led her from her Jewish family to her baptism.

August 10 is the feast of St. Lawrence, the patron of deacons. The esteem in which the Church holds Deacon Lawrence is seen in the fact that today's celebration ranks as a feast. He was a Roman deacon under Pope Saint Sixtus II. Four days after this pope was put to death, Lawrence and four clerics suffered martyrdom. We wish happy feast to our own wonderful Deacon Chris and thank him for his diaconate ministry to our parish community.

August 11 is the feast of St. Clare who was mentored by St. Francis of Assisi himself. The 41 years of Clare's religious life are scenarios of sanctity: an indomitable resolve to lead the simple, literal gospel life; courageous resistance to the ever-present pressure to dilute the ideal; a passion for poverty and humility; an ardent life of prayer; and a generous concern for her sisters.

St. Rose of Lima is honored on August 23. This first canonized saint of the New World lived a simple life and yet had to suffer so much opposition. Her life, like that of St. Clare, can challenge our lifestyle of indulging in too much food and drink, using a million gadgets, Filling our eyes and ears with useless needs on which to spend our money.

St. Monica is honored on August 27. If succumbed to her circumstances, she could have turned out to be a nagging wife, a bitter daughter-in-law, and a despairing parent, yet she did not give way to any of these temptations. She is a model of patient waiting and persevering prayer that finally led to the conversion of her hot-tempered husband and her brilliant but wayward son,

St. Augustine's feast is on August 28. He is a sinner- turned-saint. Whether we acclaim him or condemn him, he challenges us to scrap escapisms and stand face-to-face with personal responsibility and dignity.

These eight saints challenge us to practice patience and wait on God's time. Today, with Google searches, online shopping, text messages, tweets, and instant gratification, we have little patience for things that take time. It seems that when we have become most like slaves, there is the greatest talk of freedom. Are we willing to accept the challenge from these saints?

Reflection

Once there was a happy little boy who said to God one day, "O God, I want to live in a big house with a big porch, two Saint Bernard's and a garden in the back. I want to marry a woman who is tall and very beautiful and kind, with long, black hair and blue eyes, and who plays the guitar and sings in a clear, high voice. I want three strong sons with whom to play football. When they grow up, one will be a great scientist, one will be a Senator and the youngest will quarterback the Packers. I want to sail vast oceans and climb the highest mountains. I want to drive a red Ferrari and never have to pick up after myself." God said, "That sounds like a nice dream. I want you to be happy."

However, one day, the boy hurt his knee playing football. His dream of being an adventurer was over. Therefore, he studied marketing and started a medical supply company. He met a pretty woman at school, who was very warm and kind. She wasn't glamorous, she wasn't a musician, but she was a wonderful cook and a talented artist. Because of his work, they lived in the city in an apartment. A small balcony served as the big porch; all they had room for was a fluffy cat. They had three daughters (not sons); the loveliest of the three had to use a wheelchair. He made enough money for his family to live comfortably, but he didn't drive a red Ferrari and with three daughters, he spent a lot of time picking things up.

Then, one morning, he woke up very sad. He confided to a friend his disappointment that his wife was not the beautiful, glamorous musician he had dreamed of. His friend tried to reassure him that his wife was kind and generous. But the man wasn't listening. He shared with his wife his disappointment with their apartment instead of the big house he dreamed of. She reminded him of the comfortable happy home and their three beautiful daughters. But the man wasn't listening. He went to see a therapist and went on about how he dreamed of being a great adventurer and driving a Ferrari and not have to pick up after himself. The therapist pointed out that the medical supplies and equipment he sold saved many lives. But the man wasn't listening. The therapist charged him $644 and sent him home. He confessed to a priest that he had dreamed of having three strong sons. The priest said that he had been blessed with three beautiful, intelligent and gracious daughters. But, the man wasn't listening.

He was so sad that he became very sick. Late one night, alone in his hospital room, the man said to God, "Remember when I was a boy and I told you what I wanted?" "It was a lovely dream," God said. "Why didn't you give me those things?" "I could have," God replied, "but I wanted to surprise you with things you didn't dream of. Your life is one of the best packages I've put together." Yes," interrupted the man. But I thought you were going to give me what I wanted." "And I thought you were going to give me what I really wanted," God said. "To be happy with what I had given you." And that night the terribly, tragically sad man began to dream a new dream. Moreover, he became very happy.

As "the terribly, tragically sad man" discovers, a life of true joy and meaning is driven not by "perishable" material things and fleeting experiences but by the "nonperishable" values of God. Perhaps the most difficult challenge of our time is to accomplish the "work" of God while "working" to succeed in our careers, to make a place in our homes and hearts for the "bread" that is Christ amid the "fast food" being shoved at us from every direction. May God give us the wisdom to live lives grounded in the "food that endures" beyond the fleeting and the perishable, the "bread of heaven" that feeds and nurtures us for our own life's journey to the dwelling place of God.

St. Augustine Prayer

Consider the beautiful prayer to the Holy Spirit written by St. Augustine:

Breathe in me, O Holy Spirit,
That my thoughts may all be holy.
Act in me, O Holy Spirit,
That my work, too, may be holy.
Draw my heart, O Holy Spirit,
That I love but what is holy.
Strengthen me, O Holy Spirit,
To defend all that is holy.
Guard me, then, O Holy Spirit,
That I always may be holy.
Call upon the Holy Spirit and ask Him to fill you with His life.

On the Lighter Side

No Psh there! One cold winter day, two guys decide to take up ice fishing. They pond a nice spot and began to cut a hole in the ice. Then they hear a voice. "There's no fish there...". Puzzled, they begin to cut another hole a few feet away. Again, they hear the voice. "There's no fish there..." They are now confused, but still determined. About 10 feet away, they begin to cut another ice hole. "There's no fish there...", again they hear the voice. They immediately turn to the sky and say, "Is that you, God?" "NO! IT'S THE MANAGER OF THE ICE-SKATING RINK! THERE'S NO FISH THERE!
