Love Without Measure...

The apostle Paul is one of the greatest saints of the Christian tradition. Some of you might remember that before Paul became a Christian, he persecuted the early church. When Jesus appeared to Paul on the road to Damascus, Paul made a 180-degree turn. Instead of persecuting the Church, he now was called to proclaim its gospel. But Paul's history of persecuting the church was not so easily erased. We see in today's first reading from the Book of Acts. Paul comes to Jerusalem and wants to join the Christian community there. But the Christians in Jerusalem remember his persecution and are afraid of him. They will not let him in. What good is it to be an apostle of the church, if the church does not trust you? Paul's mission was clearly threatened by his past.

It is then that Barnabas steps in. Barnabas was a trusted member of the Jerusalem community. He stood up for Paul. The text says he "took charge" of Paul. The name Barnabas means "Son of Encouragement." Barnabas took Paul to the apostles, explained his story to them and encouraged them to accept him. They did and the rest is history. But it is likely that if Barnabas had not interceded, Paul would not have become the great apostle that he was meant to be.

So why did Barnabas step in to support Paul? He saw in Paul a gift, a gift of preaching, a gift of believing, a gift of serving. Barnabas believed that this gift came from God and was meant to be shared. Now if Barnabas had been a jealous or competitive person, he would not have helped Paul. He would have been afraid that Paul's gift was greater than his own. But Barnabas was not jealous or competitive. His only concern was to see that the gifts that God has given would be effective. The gospel needed to be preached, and he knew that Paul could do it.

The experience of Barnabas leaves us with two questions: Who has been a Barnabas to us, and how can we be a Barnabas to others? Who are the people in our lives who have encouraged us in a serious way? A parent or grandparent who told us that we are very good. A teacher that convinced us we have a certain talent. A friend or even a passing acquaintance who helped us land our first job or who introduced us to people who could get things done. The experience of Barnabas reminds us that none of us have become the people that we are simply on our own. We have grown and we have become successful because of those who have encouraged and supported us. For this we should always be thankful.

Fr. Bill

On the Lighter Side

When a mother saw a thunderstorm forming in mid afternoon, she worried about her seven-year-old daughter who would be walking the three blocks from school to home. Deciding to meet her, the mother saw her daughter walking nonchalantly along, stopping to smile whenever lightning flashed. Seeing her mother, the little girl ran to her, explaining happily, "All the way home, God's been taking my picture!"

Great Lessons from "Beauty and the Beast"

G. K. Chesterton once said that the really great lesson of the story of "Beauty and the Beast" is that a thing must be loved before it is loveable. A person must be loved before that person can be lovable. Some of the most unlovely people I have known got that way because they thought that nobody loved them. The fact of the matter is that unless and until we feel ourselves loved, we cannot love. That's not only a principle of theology but of psychology and sociology as well. Just as abused children grow up to abuse their children, loved children grow up to love their children. Loved persons are able to love. Unloved persons are not. Christianity says something startling. It says that God loves and accepts us "just as we are." Therefore, we can love and accept ourselves and in so doing, love and accept others.

That is what Jesus commands us to do in today's Gospel by challenging us to love others as he has loved us. Jesus demonstrated the love God, his Father, has for us by living for us and dying for us. Hence, as his disciples, we are to be persons for others, sacrificing our time, talents and lives for others. This is what parents spontaneously do for their children by sacrificing themselves, their time, talents, health and wealth for them. That is, they "spend" themselves for their children. The most effective way of communicating God's love to others is by treating everyone as a friend, giving each the respect he or she deserves as a human being, God's creation. In moments of trial and stress, when people are hostile or ungrateful and we feel the pull of bitter resentment in our hearts, it is important for us to remember that Christ's own love was not limited to the people he liked. Hence, we should close our minds to thoughts of revenge.

Not Slaves but Friends!

Jesus tells his followers that he does not call them slaves anymore, but calls them friends. In the Bible, doulos, the slave, the servant of God was no title of shame; it was a title of the highest honor. Moses was the doulos of God (Deuteronomy 34:5); so was Joshua (Joshua 24:29); so was David (Psalm 89:20). It is a title which Paul counted it an honor to use (Titus 1:1); and so did James (James 1:1). The greatest men in the past had been proud to be called the douli, the slaves of God. But Jesus says: "I have something greater for you yet. You are no longer slaves; you are friends." Christ offers an intimacy with God which not even the greatest of men knew before Jesus came into the world. The idea of being the friend of God also has a Biblical background. Abraham was the friend of God (Isaiah 41:8). In Wisdom 7:27, Wisdom is said to make us the friends of God. In Rome in the first century, the Friends of the king and the emperor were those who had the closest and the most intimate connection with him. Jesus has called us to be his friends and the friends of God. Jesus has given us this intimacy with God, so that He is no longer a distant stranger, but our close friend.

The theme of "joy" is introduced here in today's gospel passage. Jesus' "joy" comes from a relationship of perfect obedience to the Father and the unity that the Father and Son therefore share. But even this joy can be expanded. It can be made more "complete." "Completed" or "fulfilled" joy (also used in 3:29) is accomplished when Jesus' disciples enter into the obedient, loving relationship between the Father and the Son by their own loving obedience.
