June Prayer Intention

For migrants fleeing their homes

We pray that migrants fleeing from war or hunger, forced to undertake journeys full of danger and violence, find welcome and new opportunities in the countries that receive them.

"Jesus knows we are sinners; he knows we make many mistakes, but he does not give up on joining his life to ours.

He knows that we need the Eucharist, because the Eucharist is not the reward of saints, but the bread of sinners. This is why exhorts us:

"Do not be afraid! Take and eat."

~Pope Francis

Love Without Measure...

As human beings, we don't pray in one world and live in another. We are called to have an integrity, a unity, between the way we pray and the way we live.

If we by our own whims and neglect moral goodness, then our prayer will be depleted of the grace it needs to flourish. If we live a morally upright life but do not pray, then we can quickly fall into a practice that is like the pharisees. We need both prayer and a morally good life if we're going to draw close to God.

Seeking to live in the balance between prayer and action is difficult and has a lot of possible slips and trips. Chief among them is what Jesus called, "lip service." This is when we speak something that is not true about ourselves. And we all do this from time to time. We can be a person of prayer, but we are not really praying. We can claim a certain moral goodness, but in fact be very evil and deceptive.

Talk is cheap, especially in a digital world with mass media. We can say anything and make any claim we want. Lip service is rampant. It is the death of any real desire for the spiritual life. It starves to death the soul that would otherwise hunger and thirst for what is good.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church teaches us: "The prayer faith consists not only in saying 'Lord, Lord,' but in disposing the heart to do the will of the Father."

The disposition of the heart that allows us to hear and follow the will of God – and the way of life that flows from it – is necessary if we're going to receive and exercise the prayer of faith.

Our lives must become a part of our prayer. And our prayer, and our prayer has to mold and shape our lives.

It's a disturbing thought to think that we can pray and call out "Lord, Lord!" and yet some prayers become stunted by a rebellious heart that refuses to trust and follow the will of God.

The Catechism teaches us: "Jesus calls his disciples to bring into their prayers this concern for cooperating with God's purpose and plan."

The living God loves us. He calls us to humbly bring our own infidelity and lack of trust into our prayer itself. As we reject the will of God in our lives, we are told to bring that very rejection and distrust into our prayer. The very act of defiance can itself become a prayer, and – through God's grace – the defiance can be a means for us to draw closer to God.

The wrestling match between God and ourselves should never be avoided or underestimated. God welcomes a good fight as we struggle to listen and trust him. In our walk with God, we should never be embarrassed or shy away from questions and challenges. We should bring such things before God. And we shouldn't be surprised if God rolls up his sleeves, assumes a fighting position and says, "Give me all you've got!" And when we are done with our complaints, questions, uncertainties, ambiguities, challenges, we shouldn't be surprised if he pounces and initiates a good fight.

This is what we did to our forefather Jacob in the desert of Peniel and it's what he'll do for us. Jacob needed healing and restoration and God gave those to him but they did not come cheaply. Jacob wrestled with God in the desert, through the night, by himself.

As dawn broke, God blessed him and renamed him Israel. He had become a new creation, a new person, and was given a new mission.

This is the wrestling match that God invites us to. He wants us to open our hearts, raises our voices, and engage in the fight. For those who wrestle with God, he will bless them and give them a new name. But the battle has to happen. The faint-hearted must step up. The wayward must throw their punches and be ready to be backflipped by the God who loves them. The wrestling match is where God really teaches us, and it's the only place where we can. Truly learn about him.

This is the battle of acceptance and trust. It's where we learn to trust God and cherish his will.

Fr. Bill

The Community Cupboard & Closet welcomed 15 employees of Key Bank on Thursday, June 6th for the annual Neighbors Make The Difference Day. The Key team cleaned classrooms, helped clean and organize the Cupboard, sorted food, repaired screens, cleaned windows, mopped floors, vacuumed, bagged dog food, and discarded bulk items that were no longer needed. It was a very productive day, and we're deeply grateful to our friends at Key Bank.

Pray the Rosary

We invite you to join us every Monday through Friday at 6 PM in Church as we pray the rosary. If you are unable to join us in person, we encourage you to join us on our live-stream.

Cursillistas will gather for Ultreya on Saturday, July 13th at 10:00 am.

Bible Study

Our weekly group Bible Study will continue this Wednesday in Walsh Hall from 6:30 pm to 8:30 pm led by Pat Takacs and Andrea Whinnery Erman.

There are two weeks remaining for this series that focuses on the source and summit of our Catholic faith, The Eucharist. Course materials from the Augustine Institute are used and will be provided. It is a time to come together and connect while being intentional about deepening our understanding of the richness of our tradition and growing in faith together.

Please feel free to come to any of the Wednesday sessions you can make. We will give you the website to view the previous videos already covered. We find the sharing with each other about our perspective provides a sense of togetherness and joy.

Sign language Interpreter will be present and videos have closed captions. Snacks and refreshments will be provided.

ALL ARE WELCOME!

Update: Arthur Tyler, June, 2024

Hello all,

I am writing with the difficult news learned from Arthur's attorney, Kathy, that the Prosecutor's office has objected to the unanimous parole recommendation by the five person panel of the parole board. Therefore the next step is a full board hearing, in person, in Columbus this November. Unfortunately this move was not unexpected. We are not sure the nature of the opposition and have not seen anything in writing. When Kathy returns from vacation we are hoping to learn more. Arthur again continues to completely impress with his calm and focused perspective. He is taking it in stride and says it is all in God's timing and that he can manage this delay.

Letters of support and encouragement should be addressed to:

Arthur Tyler #a175637
Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction
Mail Processing Center
884 Coitsville-Hubbard Rd, Youngstown, OH 44505

Thank you, as ever, for your interest, prayers and support for Arthur during this long journey.

Pat Takacs, Parishioner

Reflections

Symphonic Hope

A renowned symphony conductor reflects on the dynamic of making music: "A symphony orchestra is an amazing organism: so many different instruments and musicians playing together to create a single work of music. "The aim of the orchestra is not to win; the aim is to make sure that every voice is heard. If both the trumpet and the viola are going to be heard, the trumpet has to listen to the viola because the trumpet is much louder than the viola. This requires great discipline. An orchestra is a conversation about we.

"So wouldn't it be great if, instead of only talking about adding more, more and more to the bottom line, companies started a new conversation: We have enough of this; now, let's have more of that or let's build this. Today we live in a world where if one country goes down, we all go down. We need to understand that we all need to flourish in order for all of us to grow. That's the symphony orchestra model. And that model can only be built by intelligent optimists who master the art of possibility for themselves and for everyone around them."

Sometimes we act out of a self-centeredness that is of "Satan" and not out of the compassionate spirit of the Gospel we profess: without fail, the "house" we build out of arrogance and greed collapses in anger and hurt; the "symphony" we try to orchestrate from our own wants and interests disintegrates into a noisy tangle of out-of-sync instruments. If a house that is a real home is to stand, it must be constructed of forgiveness, humility, and generosity; if we are to play the music that God places in every human heart, we must welcome and encourage everyone to raise their voices and contribute the sound and skill of their instruments. Jesus' life testifies to the reality that the "power" of "Beelzebub" cannot heal or restore or re-create - only the Spirit of God can bring about such transformation. Let the reconciling and loving Spirit of God be the architect of the "houses" we seek to make for ourselves and families, the conductor of creation's song of peace and healing sung by every human life and heart.
